ADOPTS WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

New Hampshire Constitutional Convention Declares for the Change.

Special to The Washington Post.
Concerd, N. H., Dec. 12.—The constitutional convention, by a vote of 145 to 92, has declared for a woman's suffrage plank in the new constitution, but the vote is not final, reconsideration having been voted and the matter lald on the been voted and the matter lald on the table until there is a full attendance of delegates. The suffragists feel confident that the section will uithmately be adopted. The opposition declare that with a full vote they will easily defeat it.

The measure has the support of the Prohibition element, which, seeing that local option is a question of but a short time at the most, wish to retain their power by giving women a vote.

Montpeller, Vt., Dec. 12.—The senate has kided a bill extending the suffrage to women.
